

Louisville Daily Express.

OLD SERIES--VOL. XXV.

LOUISVILLE, MONDAY MORNING, MAY 10, 1869.

NEW SERIES--VOL. I, NO. 19.

THE CITY.

At the Jail.

They had peace yesterday. Up to a late hour last evening not a single arrest was recorded there.

Closing of the Eastern Mail.

The time of closing the Eastern mail at the postoffice has been changed from midnight to 10:20 p. m., the mail going by the 11:30 train, instead of waiting until next morning to be sent.

Jefferson Law Association.

There will be a special meeting of the Jefferson Law Association at the Chancery Court room this afternoon at 4 o'clock. As the meeting will be an important one the attendance of every member is expected.

Fewling.

One Solomon Weil was arrested yesterday, and now languishes in the south-east cage of the First-street station; one Henry Mead declared that Solomon had stole chickens from him. Sol. will have a chance to prove his innocence this morning before Judge Craig.

Orders for the Express.

Persons wishing the EXPRESS will apply to the carriers or send their orders to our counting-room, No. 112 Jefferson street. Our paper is supplied to subscribers (Monday morning edition included) for the low price of 15 CENTS PER WEEK, OR 75 CENTS PER MONTH.

Locket Found.

Officer W. S. Adams on Saturday found on First street, between College and Breckinridge, a small gold locket which contained the picture of a beautiful young lady, and the name of "Annie" engraved on the locket. The owner of the same (the locket) can get it by calling at the First-street station, proving property, etc.

Notice.

Mr. Watson has taken charge of the delivery of the EXPRESS south of Green street and west of Tenth, and Mr. Sale south of Walnut and east of Preston. Subscribers in these districts who have not received their papers regularly of late will have the same corrected by reporting to the above carriers or at our counting-room.

Election of Directors.

The following officers and board of directors for the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home and Infirmary were elected last week: T. L. Jefferson, President; H. B. Grant, Secretary; J. M. S. McKelvie, Treasurer. Directors: Chas. Tilden, Wm. W. Powers, Dr. John Bull, Henry Weinhoff, Geo. C. Buchanan, L. B. Poreh, John L. Wheat, C. Henry Finck, Dr. E. Richardson, Geo. W. Weeks, Jno. V. Cowling, sen., Jno. H. Leathers, Theo. Schwartz and F. P. Schmidt.

4-Paw's Circus.

The great Forepaugh, with his celebrated menagerie and circus, will arrive this morning. The people may expect to see something immense when the mastodon combination enters the city and parades the streets, for the display made by the grand cavalcade is said to be tremendous, and a good show in itself. The wagons are the finest and most valuable of any used for the same purpose in this country, many of them being composed, in a great part, of solid mirror-glass. There will be a matinee for schools and families at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning. Many of the city schools have already made arrangements to attend this matinee.

First-street Station.

The cages in this retreat for the weary and way-faring bums, presented a lively appearance last evening. We doubt if any cage in Forepaugh's menagerie could equal them for life and animation. Something less than half a hundred beer-suckers (of various nationalities) were playing hide-and-go-seek behind the bars. Several were too drunk to tell who made 'em, and not one could tell who was the father of his country. The names of those who were sober enough to give them are too numerous to mention here. One young chap in there asked us to suppress his name. He was too drunk to tell what his name was. He probably intended his request as a joke. We kindly advised him to stop trying to drown his sorrows in the flowing bowl—the flowing bowl will prove too much for him every time he tackles it. This young man came from Chicago, and said he had been raised there as a Christian. He was a very good specimen of some of the Chicago Christians we read about in the Police Gazette, and reflects great credit on that moral town.

Row at Lion Garden.

Several men who visited Lion Garden yesterday had looked through the bottoms of several dozen glasses to take astronomical observations of the sun, and became so irritated because they couldn't see it all, that they wanted to fight somebody right away. After tramping on several coat-tails, they at last found two individuals willing to be whipped. The ball opened, and in a few minutes twenty or thirty more requested to have "hands" dealt off to them. The amusement waxed warm, and many who wanted satisfaction soon got it, and also various pieces of bark knocked off their noses, in most cases it being difficult to be struck on the face without getting hit on the nose. Officers Seay, Rodgers and Reitz snuffed the battle from afar; they rushed in and got their hands full of hair, with men hanging at the ends of it, and soon filled the First-street station to overflowing with the little haul they made at Lion Garden. They made a first-rate showing last evening; they will make another showing this morning before Judge Craig.

GREENLAND RACES.

The Sport To-day—Mile Heats for Three Year Olds.

To-day the races arranged for the Spring meeting at the Greenland Course will commence. Everything that tends to make turf sports attractive and pleasing have been done; the track has been put in beautiful condition; extraordinary preparations have been made for the comfort and accommodation of visitors; the ladies have received the special attention of the management—the accommodations provided for lady spectators are simply luxurious, and special police have been organized to patrol the grounds and maintain the best of order and proper decorum.

During the past week many fast horses have arrived, and there are now on the grounds nearly a hundred racers, trained and ready for the various contests which will take place during the week at Greenland. Well-known owners and admirers of fast horses and the turf have flocked here in large numbers during the past few days, and all seem to have come with heavy purses and a determination to win or lose "big piles." The weather bids to be propitious, and the prospect was never better for a week of animation, sport and excitement among turfmen.

The most complete arrangements have been made for teaching and leaving the course. Extra trains will start from the Nashville railroad depot at 12 m., 12:45 p. m., and 2 p. m., each day during the week. Returning trains will leave the grounds at about the same intervals. The road from Third street to the race course has been put in excellent condition for good traveling thereon by all kinds of vehicles.

The programme for to-day is one of great interest, as well in point of distance as for the large number of entries and the celebrity of the horses named. The first race is for three year olds, mile heats, fifty dollars entrance and twenty-five dollars forfeit, with an association purse of four hundred dollars added.

The second race is a four-mile dash, free to all ages, for the St. Charles purse of eight hundred dollars. Only two entries have been reported for this lively contest, viz:

1. Redding & Bro. name b. c. 4 years old, by Joe Stoner, dam by Yorkshire.
2. Jackson & Co. name b. h. 6 years old, by Colossus, dam imported Ooten.

The races commence at half-past two o'clock each day. Admission to main stand, one dollar; admission to the field, twenty-five cents.

COLORS IN THREE-YEAR-OLD STAKE.

Jackson & Co.—Red jacket, red cap, yellow pants and yellow sash.

W. F. Harper—White pants, red jacket and red cap.

D. S. Crouse—Orange and orange.

A. Kean Richards—White pants, striped jacket and striped cap.

S. T. Drain—Red and red.

George W. Stewart—White pants, blue coat and blue cap.

COLORS IN FOUR-MILE DASH.

Redding & Bro.—Red and red.

Jackson & Co.—Red jacket, red cap, yellow pants and yellow sash.

During the week's sport several velopede races will take place on the course; considerable premiums will be offered, and this feature will be one of the most pleasing nature.

The Real Estate Sale Saturday.

The sale of property on Third street near the House of Refuge, by Morris, Southwick & Co. on Saturday, attracted quite a number of buyers. There was spirited bidding. The prices realized were at a considerable advance over those of last year. There has been and is now a demand speculative and otherwise, for property in that locality, and will continue to be. And real estate investments are the best after all. Steamboats burn up and merchandise goes down, and U. S. bonds may or may not be stable—but the ground we live on is sure to stand.

A Row.

A white man and a negro got into a war of words with each other on the corner of Second and Jefferson streets, last night. After calling each other an endless number of pet names, they walked together along the street to the corner of Third and Jefferson, where they concluded to make the war warmer, and peel each other's nose. The white man grabbed a brick, and was in the act of throwing it at Africa, when an eagle-eyed Metropolitan put his manly clutch on both parties and hurried them off to the First-street house of refuge.

Drowned.

We learn that a man by the name of Thos. Owen was drowned in the Ohio river, at West Louisville, between 8 and 9 o'clock last evening, by the caving in of the bank. He, in company with several other men, were engaged in fishing when the accident occurred. The body had not been recovered up to a late hour last night.

Turned Out.

Wm. K. Thomas' promising race horse Louisville (a Lexington) was temporarily disabled at Nashville. In the second heat of the mile race he struck his right fore-foot against some hard substance and broke the hoof badly. He was brought home to-day and turned out. He will no doubt "get on his feet" again in three or four months.

Death of Henry Brobst.

The many friends of Mr. Geo. Brobst's family will be pained to hear of the death of his son Henry. This sad event occurred yesterday. The funeral ceremonies will take place from his father's residence, on Breckinridge street, to-day.

LOCAL CHIT-CHAT.

The city is remarkably healthy just now. There were only thirty-four deaths last week.

Little sons that "shine for all"—the five-cent boot-blacks which crowd the sidewalks and street corners.

Yesterday was a beautiful day, and all the churches had large congregations.

A metropolitan struck a streak of luck on Saturday—found a ten cent scrip on the street.

Officer Green arrested a Chicagoan on Saturday, alleged to have forged an order in the name of Dr. Speed on Colston & Co., Chicago. Wanted clothes.

Ripe tomatoes and new potatoes are exhibited in the front windows of our leading restaurants.

The Louisville Legion meets to-morrow night, at the office of Capt. J. F. Huber, corner Main and Second streets.

With Forepaugh's show, Greenland races, Lucille Western at the Opera House, and Blind Tom at the Masonic Temple, and other attractions, our people will not suffer for want of amusements this week. It is understood Col. Bolling will vacate the position of Surveyor of this port this week.

Quite a number of strangers have arrived to attend the races at Greenland. More men and horses will be here to-morrow.

The velocipedists want a race on their "teams" over Greenland Course. Can't a premium be offered for the gents to show their skill on their fiery steeds?

The pressure of advertisements this morning crowds out several columns of editorial and news items.

Opera House.

Miss Lucille Western commences an engagement of six nights at the Opera House to-night. She appears this evening as "Lady Isabel" and "Madame Vine" in East Lynne, or the Elopement. The story of East Lynne, and the play also, are familiar to every one, but there is no one but Lucille Western who can truthfully and effectively interpret it. There are a million play-goers in America, and more than one-half of this number have seen, commiserated with and wept over the former Lady Isabel. It is one of those characters which is so peculiar in its sympathetic lines and ardent aim as to be deprived of so much weighty effect as to destroy the whole play when in inefficient hands, while with Miss Western we have the idealization—the perceptibility of the imperceptible air waiting the ship upon the ocean; the creation of character and thought—the one so true and the other so vivid—as to entrance a cynic or entrap a lunatic. Miss Western's interpretation of Lady Isabel must be believed, and none but the soulless can fail to shed tears at her breathing picture of the jealous and misguided wife.

The Latest Method.

The latest method we have noticed adopted by the organ-grinder to attract the attention and sympathy of passers-by, is the invention of the poor old blind German who takes his stand on the corner of Market and Fourth streets, and grinds through the livelong day, not even stopping for dinner. On the top of his organ is fixed a large sheet of tin, on either side of which is painted in a neat and artistic style a family group sitting in a beautifully furnished room, with an old man in the center; a bolt of lightning is piercing through a window and has struck the old man in the face. This picture gives the manner in which the poor old gentleman was made blind, and no doubt brings him many a nickel he would not get if it were not for this painting constantly before the eyes of those who pause to listen to the strains of his organ.

The Boat Race.

The boat race Saturday was a gay affair. Thousands of spectators, men, women and children, lined both shores of the river, and manifested their interest in the contest. Indeed, such excitement has never been over a similar race about the falls. The Louisville boys and the "Carrie" were the victors at the New Albany oarsmen proved themselves worthy and mettlesome, and although they lost the race they divided the honors and deservedly.

Blind Tom.

This wonderful pianist and musical prodigy opens his engagement at Masonic Temple to-night. His reputation is world-wide as a most skilled pianist, and we advise those who have never seen Blind Tom, to visit Masonic Temple to-night; those who have seen him, will be sure to be there. Blind Tom intersperses his entertainments with fun, and his performances are not in the least tiresome or monotonous.

Inspector of Steamboats.

George A. Houghton, of this city, has been appointed Supervising Inspector of steamboats for this (the Sixth) District, in place of Col. J. V. Guthrie. Mr. Houghton has for some time been a member of the Local Board of Inspectors here; he is thoroughly acquainted with the duties of the office to which he has been appointed, and will doubtless perform them in a manner satisfactory to all.

For Old Ireland.

Our Celtic citizens, it may be seen by a notice in another column, design a handsome reception for their gifted countrywoman, Mrs. O'Donovan (Rossa), who gives readings and recitations Thursday night. They have called a meeting of the different societies representing their nationality for this purpose.

The Nashville Races.

The Spring races over the Nashville course closed last Saturday. The Union and American pronounces this the most successful spring meeting that has ever been witnessed in Nashville. Last fall the meeting was regarded as a great success, but that just closed was, in all points, much superior. The attendance was much larger—the races swifter, and the gate receipts fully $1,000 in excess of the last meeting.

There were three races Saturday, the first being a velopede race, for which there were five entries. It was won by John Kengan, who made the mile in seven minutes, four seconds and a half. Of the other races we append a summary:

SECOND RACE.
Cumberland stake, No. 2—For three-year-olds; two-mile heats; subscription $50, p. p. Association to add $100; five or more to fill; with the following entries:
1. W. K. Thomas enters b. c. Louisville, by Lexington, dam by Boston, p. p. ft.
2. E. S. Patterson enters ch. c. Signal Light, by Bill Cheatham, dam Vesper Light by Childie Harold, p. p. ft.
3. Cheatham & Wicks enters b. c. Nannie Douglas, by Rogers, dam by Waggoner, p. p. ft.
4. A. Buford enters b. c. Versailles, by Vandal, dam by Margrave, p. p. ft.
5. Richards & Kilgour enter ch. f. by Mickey Free, dam Blonde by Glencoe, p. p. ft.
Time, 3:43.34.
Louisville had broken his hoof.

THIRD RACE.
Association Handicap, Purse, $200; mile heats; for all horses that have not won during the meeting; second horse to have $50 out of the purse.
1. E. S. Patterson enters b. c. Bailett, by Bill Cheatham, dam by Lexington, p. p. ft.
2. E. T. Craig enters b. c. Donovan, by Bulletin, dam by Ambassador, p. p. ft.
3. W. H. Johnson enters b. c. Derringer, by Rogers, dam Sunshine by Engineer, 3 years old, p. p. ft.

Presbyterian Female School.

The stockholders of the Presbyterian Female School of Louisville are called by an advertisement in another column to meet on the 17th inst. at the office of the Falls City Tobacco Bank, for the purpose of re-organizing and adopting a new constitution and by-laws.

Country Residence at Auction.

Morris, Southwick & Co. will sell the handsome country place of Mrs. Owens, near the fair grounds, to-day. Omnibuses will be provided free of charge. See advertisement.

Morris, Southwick & Co. also advertise a sale of Second-street property and a tannery on Eighth and Lexington streets.

Cigars and Tobacco.

And meerschaum pipes, cigar tubes, and every article of fancy goods pertaining to the trade, selling at the Smokers' Emporium, corner Third and Jefferson, at less than one-half original cost. Cigars by the box at wholesale prices, and the best grades of chewing tobacco by the pound at a small advance on package prices. Warner is a judge of the "weed," as thousands who patronize him can testify, and never keeps anything but the best.

Andrews' Sale of Dry Goods.

Andrews, the enterprising dry goods dealer, No. 140 Market street, offers extraordinary inducements to purchasers. He has put down his prices and commences to-day selling off at greatly reduced rates. He says he will sell at low prices, and he is a man of his word.

The bill of fare he sets forth in the EXPRESS this morning is most inviting to ladies. It embraces everything in this line. There will be bargains at Andrews', and such a rush.

HARD BLOWS.

The "Reconstruction" Fiasco.

The New York "World" is showing what a wretched failure the Radical "reconstruction" of the South has been. Even the proposed disfranchisement of the whites and their darling "negro suffrage" hobby, so long persisted in, will soon be given up, the editor thinks, as an impossibility.

"Conferring universal suffrage upon the brutal and semi-barbarous negroes was bad enough, but the negro voters could be managed if the political talent of the South were left free to act. Experience long ago demonstrated that even the intelligent white voters of the country exercised but little real power. A few active politicians and wire-pullers control all the elections by packing and controlling the preliminary caucuses and conventions; and if active political talent so easily monopolizes all effective power in the free and intelligent North it cannot be a very difficult task to outwit and circumvent the ignorant and pauperized negroes of the South. Give the Southern whites an open field and fair play, and they are competent enough to control the politics of their section, in spite of negro suffrage. Inasmuch as the South is a free country, therefore, the Republican party will give up the main prop of its Southern policy. This practical confession that its policy has been a blunder will rapidly undermine the waning confidence of the country in the fitness of that party to control public affairs."

CUBA.

THE AMERICAN EXPEDITION.

Who the Leaders Are.

GRANT AND SUMNER'S VIEWS.

From the N. Y. Evening Post, 6th.

Investigations made to-day show that there is no truth in the reports that the Arago took Cuban recruits from this city on Tuesday night.

Messrs. Spafford, Tilton & Co. chartered the steamship Perit a few days ago to certain persons; and although it is claimed by her owners that she cleared for Jamaica on a lawful voyage, they refuse to state whether there were any Cuban recruits on board.

Persons in charge of the Cuban headquarters state positively that the Cuban recruits did not sail in the Arago, but in another vessel, the name of which they decline to give. As the Perit sailed on Tuesday night on a secret voyage, and Captain Hazard, of the Phillips, has failed to give any account as to what vessel he transferred his passengers, it is fair to assume that the recruits were taken to sea in the Perit, and are now near the point of their destination.

The Spanish Consul at this port to-day said that the Spanish Government is constantly buying arms in this city, and that a large quantity of Spencer rifles went out by the Havana steamer of to-day. The statement in a morning paper that the Morris Castle took twenty-five thousand Spencer rifles for the Spanish forces is greatly exaggerated, as it is not probable that there is so large a number in this country.

The Consul admitted that he is constantly in the receipt of valuable information concerning the movements of the insurgents, but he declined to furnish any facts for publication.

The printed report that the schooner Grapshot, with fifty volunteers on board, left this port a few days for Cuba, is without the slightest foundation in fact, as the Grapshot now lies at anchor in the harbor.

The report that thirty vessels are building for the Spanish Government at this port and Boston, is denied by authority, and the report that a revenue cutter sailed from the Brooklyn navy yard on Saturday to intercept an expedition from the Florida coast, lacks confirmation.

The Cuban authorities in this city are acting with great caution, and say that as they are surrounded and constantly watched by persons in the interest of the Spaniards, they cannot, without seriously compromising their cause, make known even to their friends the extent of the aid they are affording the patriot army. They deny the statements in some of the morning papers, to the effect that recruiting offices have been opened at four different points in this city, and say that they are able to get all the men they want without resorting to such an open method.

From the New York Mail, Thursday.

No Cubans went out on the Arago. The Arago does not belong to the Cubans, and had no considerable number of passengers aboard. A steamer did sail on Tuesday night, laden with Cuban recruits and military stores, but "Arago" was not her name, and the world does not know what it is in a double sense. Nor was she by any means the first vessel that has slipped out of this port quietly to sea, unknown to government officials or to spying reporters. Neither will she be the last. Before a fortnight will have elapsed the Cuban insurgents will have received reinforcements of at least two thousand well-trained and veteran fighters, and enough arms and munitions for a lively and offensive summer campaign.

THE LEADER OF THE EXPEDITION.

Great curiosity is evinced about the leader of the Cuban expedition. By a misprint in yesterday's World his name was spelled wrong. His proper name, correctly spelled is Domingo de Goicouria. Gen. Goicouria is a gentleman whose whole life has been devoted to Cuban independence, and who, like probably purloined more arms for the Cuban cause and engineered more illegal expeditions than any other living man. He was with Lopez in the rising of 1850, was then taken by the Spaniards, condemned to the garrote, came even so near execution as to be placed in the chapel to shrieve himself, but afterward had sentence commuted to transportation to Cuba, and was actually sent to Cadiz as a prisoner.

He so won the good will of the command, that he was allowed to escape, and thence to the United States, where he has since resided when not engaged in filibustering.

GENERAL THOMAS JORDAN.

From the N. Y. World, 7th.

General Thomas Jordan, who has gone out in command of the expedition to Cuba, is an old West Pointer, and one of the most accomplished officers of the late Confederate army. He served as chief of staff to General Beauregard during the first three years of the war, and was with him at Charleston and Vicksburg, and in Virginia. During the Shiloh campaign General Jordan conceived the idea that Jefferson Davis, the Confederate President, was hostile to General Beauregard, and he resented an alleged slight to his chief then and after the close of the war.

General Jordan fell, Jordan, like many of his brother officers, came North. His fortunes were entirely broken by the contest, and he sought to obtain a livelihood here in writing for the press. His old grudge against Davis took form in an article in Harper's Magazine, which attracted considerable notice at the time. General Jordan also wrote upon military, agricultural, and political subjects both for the magazines and the metropolitan newspapers. He has been living in New Jersey, near the city, until the beginning of the Cuban outbreak. Since then his presence at various places on the coast, and particularly at Charleston and New Orleans, has been noticed, and always in connection with some rumored movement in favor of the Cuban cause.

General Jordan is a man of medium height, spare in form, and with a quick, nervous manner. He has an intellectual head and features, and fine eyes, and when off duty is exceedingly courteous in demeanor. During his military days in the South, though he was often accused of brusqueness and harsh reputation in the army of being a martinet. That he is a thorough soldier by instinct and education cannot be questioned. He saw and participated in some of the hardest fighting of the late war, and aside from his own merit, had the advantage of a long personal intercourse with General Beauregard, who was certainly one of the first military engineers of the war. If Jordan
